

Poetry of Forgiveness Entry

Hawai'i Forgiveness Project

Thank you for submitting an entry to the Poetry of Forgiveness Awards! Your participation will enrich everyone who attends the event this year, and all who see and hear about it through the press and this website, worldwide.

We hope that your participation will benefit you too, both personally and professionally. Our commitment is to highlight the winning poetry to the maximum possible audience, and to treat your creative work with the highest respect. Awards will be presented personally at Hawai'i International Forgiveness Day, the first Sunday in August.

To submit a nomination, please first review the Entry Qualifications and background, at <http://www.hawaiiforgivenessproject.org/awards/>. Then fill out the form; carefully describe you and your work, and the connection of the piece you submit to the theme of forgiveness. Provide us with contact information that will allow us to quickly and easily reach you, if you are a winner or runner-up.

A judge and a supervising committee will review the nominations up to the deadline. We may contact you for further details. Those being honored will be notified at the email and/or telephone number you provide.

Your name:

The title of the poem you are entering:

A brief description of the poem you are entering, its length, subject, and style (ie., free verse, sonnet, couplets, song lyrics):

Please explain the connection you see between the poem you are entering and the theme of forgiveness. This may include a description of the inspiration for this piece, its origin and subject, its significance to you and others.

Please type your poem here, or paste the text in from its source. Remember, you will need to be able to read your entry in a minute or less; we have provided you with 50 lines here. If this is not sufficient space for your entry, or if your entry is part of a longer piece, you may leave this area blank and upload the entire longer piece as a file, in the space marked  upload * below.
